A capital letter after "of" or "p." denotes the parish whose particular Register is being printed; thus "of C."="of Chirbury," and "p. C.S."="parish of Church Stretton."

Thanks are due to the Rev. Prebendary Burd and the Rev. A. Roberts for leave to print the Registers, and for facilities afforded in their transcription and collation. Also to Mr. T. R. Horton, Miss Auden, Miss A. M. Auden, Mrs. R. B. Morris, and the Rev. F. A. Allen, for transcribing and collating the Registers.

Since the Church Stretton Register has been in type, Mrs. Seymour, the generous donor of this and other Registers to the Society, and sister of the late Mr. Stanley Leighton, M.P., has passed away.

Chirbury Registers.

Chirbury, called in Welsh Llanfynnonwen, is a village and extensive parish situated on the Montgomeryshire border of Salop, rather more than 18 miles from Shrewsbury and 6 from Welshpool. The parish originally contained the townships of Dudston, Hockleton, Marrington, Marton, Middleton, Priest Weston, Rorrington, Stockton, Timberth, Walcot, Wilmington, Winsbury, and Wotherton. Six of these townships have in modern times been separated for ecclesiastical purposes, with Churches at Marton and Middleton. Chirbury was the site of one of the castles built by Ethelfeada, the Lady of Mercia, about A.D. 915, and it was a place of importance as head of the early Hundred of Witentreu, as it was and is of the later Hundred of Chirbury. It was a Royal manor in Saxon days, and was held by Edward the Confessor himself. After the Norman Conquest it passed to Roger de Montgomery, the Norman Earl of Shrewsbury. In 1086 the manor is recorded as possessing two churches and one priest. Probably the priest of Chirbury served both Chirbury and Church Stoke, which was a daughter chapelry. The manor seems to have been in the hands of the De Bollers family, the lords of Montgomery, till the time of Henry III., when it again became a royal borough, but its importance was much overshadowed by that of Montgomery.

About the close of the 12th century, Robert de Bollers, lord of Montgomery, founded a Priory of Augustinian Canons at Snead, near Church Stoke, which very soon was moved to Chirbury, the advowson of which formed a considerable part of the original endowment of the Priory. The Church at Chirbury appears to have suffered greatly in the time of Henry III., probably from the Border wars, and the Canons in those days obtained from the King a Charter permitting them to remove to the Snead because Chirbury was "no longer a fitting place for the celebration of the divine mysteries." It would seem, however, that they did not take advantage of their Charter, but rebuilt their Church in great part from the ruins of the old one. In 1285, Bishop Swinfield visited Chirbury, and was displeased at the lax discipline of the Canons. Matters were not better in 1286, but in 1288, on his second visit, no blame was given, and in the following year the Bishop commended the Priory for piety, charity, and hospitality. The Priory was dissolved in 1535, when Oliver Middleton, the last Prior, gave into the King's hands the lands and rents and other sources of income amounting to about £87 a year.

The Church of the Priory was also the Parish Church of St. Michael. It still stands, but the Priory buildings are gone. Leland, who was here in the course of his journeys made between 1538 and 1548, speaks of "Chirbiri, a Priory of Chanons, 2 miles from Montgomerike. Much of the Stone and Lead brought to repayre Montgomery."

Among the sources of income of the Priory were the tithes of the Chapel of St. Mary of the Well (S'tæ Mariæ de Fonte), as well as those at the chapels of Church Stoke, Hissington, Snead, and Forden.

In 1553 the Commissioners of Edward VI. appropriated to the King's use the ornaments of the Church deemed no longer necessary. The following is the inventory still preserved in the Public Record Office:—"Chirbury, 13 Aug. 6 Edw. VI. John Myddelton curate there, David ap John Roberte, Walter Hocolton and John Badye too honest men of the same p'ishe.

The p'sentors do depose that they have not the form'r Inventory.

In the following year a return was made of the goods retained by each parish. Chirbury was said to have "ij chales of silver, iij belles, a chales p'ayning to a chapell in the sayd p'ishe." but on May 9. 7 Edw. VI. Water Hockleton, John Harys and John Bady parishioners certified that the parish had three bells; one chalice with the paten thereto belonging."

No trace now remains of the Chapel at Rorrington, nor is there any tradition of its site.

The property of Chirbury Priory passed through the hands of Edward Hopton and others till the time of Elizabeth, who in 1571 conferred them on the newly-founded Shrewsbury School. This brought in a tie with the Schools that lasts to this day. Leonard Hotchkiss, who spent a large portion of his long life of 80 years there as boy and master, was baptised at Chirbury, Sep. 10, 1691. He was head master of Shrewsbury from 1735 to 1754, having been one of the assistant masters for 22 years previously. He was grandson of John Hotchkiss of Ridge, in Chirbury parish.

Rorrington, where the parishioners had sold three bells to provide an endowment for the services of a priest, belonged to the Herefordshire Commandery of St. John of Jerusalem at Dinmore. It was granted in 1545 to John Warner, who sold it immediately to William Kerry, a salter of London, of the family long settled at Binweston, near Worthen. The Kerrys retained the estate till 1637, when William Kerry arm. and George Kerry gen. sold it to John Edwards. John Edwards was among the trustees of Chirbury School in 1675. He married Thomasin Lloyd of the Maesmawr family, and their eldest son bore the name of Lloyd. The last John Edwards of Rorrington, in 1763, bequeathed his estates there and at Maesmawr to his nephew, John Lloyd Jones.

The family of Penbury also held land at Rorrington, which descended to Sir Henry and Lady Wakeman, and in 1828 John Jones of Maesmawr and Rorrington, son of John Lloyd Jones, sold his Rorrington estate to Sir Henry. The Wakemans are descended from the Wards of Newtown, near Baschurch, one of whom, Roger, was Chief Constable of Chirbury Hundred in 1623.

During the Commonwealth, Shropshire was divided into six "classes" for Church Government. Chirbury was in the sixth classis, and its vicar, Edward Lewis, was approved as a fit minister to be of the classis, and Richard Harris of Stockton, gent., and Edward Baxter of Broughton, gent., were the "others fit to be of the sixth classis."

The Rev. S. H. S. Cranage has kindly supplied the following description of Chirbury Church:—

The Church is a deeply interesting building, and dates from various periods. It is important at once to note that originally the eastern part was monastic and the western parochial. A Priory of Augustinian Canons was founded at Chirbury about the end of the 12th Century. There was a Parish Church before that time and apparently the Canons permanently occupied the eastern part, leaving the nave and aisles to the parishioners. At the dissolution of the Monasteries in the reign of Henry VIII. the eastern part was entirely removed and a wall built at the east end of the Nave. One very beautiful fragment remains in the Church yard some fifty feet east of the Church, though probably too far north to have ever been incorporated in it. It may have been a base of a column in the Chapter House.

There are some signs to indicate that the Norman Church at Chirbury was aisleless, and that the wall at the ends of the arcades and possibly the west wall as well date from the 12th Century. In the 13th Century the north and south aisles were erected. The mouldings are simple and of a pronounced Early English character. Only one window remains intact. The western window of the south aisle consists of two lancets. There is a piscina and ambry in the usual position in this aisle. In the 14th Century the massive western tower was erected and the present west doorway of the nave inserted. In the Perpendicular period some alterations were made to the tower. The wall at the east end of the nave all disappeared, for in the year 1734 a small brick chancel was erected. The plain vestry with eastern porch dates from 1848. The Church was in a very dilapidated condition when the present

VICAR was appointed. In 1872 a restoration was taken in hand and very fully carried out. Everything possible was preserved, but it was found necessary to rebuild the south wall of the south aisle and to put new windows almost throughout the Church. Nearly all the fittings are modern except the font and the very handsome brass and iron chandelier, the history of which is not known.

The Parish Register Abstract, 1831, gives the following account of the Chirbury Registers:—"Chirbury V. Nos. I., II. Bap. Bur. Marr 1629—1812, defective 1675—1676."

The Registers down to 1812 are contained in two books. Vol. I. commences in 1629 and goes to 1752. It consists of 80 leaves of parchment, measuring 16 inches by 10, and is in fair condition.

Vol. II. is also of parchment, and extends from 1752 to 1812.

The marriages continue to be entered in the general register after the use of the special marriage register book in 1754.

Volume I. may be in part a transcript of the original as a large portion of it is in one handwriting. The entries are unusually bald. After 1639, the place of residence is rarely mentioned, and the calling is only given in the entries for the years from 1699 to 1706. The only clue to the social position of the various families is an asterisk, which has been placed by those of note, apparently soon after the entries were made. These have been retained in the printed copy as a break to the monotony.

Nearly every one of the hamlets of Chirbury possessed a chief family.

At Rorrington were first the Kerrys, and later the Edwards family.

The Penburys held some land at Rorrington, but lived at Wotherton, where the bulk of their land was: they never lived at Rorrington.

At Chirbury itself were the Hoptons, connected with those of Canon Frome in Herefordshire.

The Newtons are also called of Chirbury, though they were more correctly of Heightley. Their pedigree in the Heralds' Visitation shows that they were descended from John, son of Sir Peter Newton, Sheriff of Shropshire in 1503, builder of the Council House in Shrewsbury, whose eldest son Arthur was said by Leland to have "almost made away with all his Landes." Francis Newton of Heightley was Sheriff in 1602, and John Newton in 1635. John Newton married Sarah, daughter of Judge Owen of Conover, and sister-in-law of Bonham Norton, Sheriff in 1611. Bonham Newton, the son of John, who was buried in Jan., 1642, doubtless owed his name to this connection. Their neighbours, the Kerrys, were also connected with the Owen family. There is a hatchment in the Church tower to John Newton, 1681.

At Middleton there were originally the Middletons, who were living there as early as the 13th century. One of the Middletons married the heiress of the Bowlders (De Bollers) of Marrington. Margaret Middleton, the heiress of this branch of the family in 1489, married David Lloyd, and Marrington passed to that family, with whom it remained for six generations.

The Middletons remained at Middleton into the 17th century. They entered their pedigree at the Heralds' Visitation of 1623. Elizabeth Penne, buried in 1638, was a daughter of Hugh Middleton of Middleton. The Middletons of Weston were probably another branch of those of Middleton.

The register also mentions a Margaret Gough of Middleton. She was possibly the wife of Thomas Gough of the Marsh, near Westbury, and daughter of Edward Lloyd, or perhaps the wife of Edward Gough and daughter of Humphrey Kerry.

At Stockton the family of Harris lived for many generations. They were connected with the Harris family of Conover. Their pedigree was entered at the Heralds' Visitation of 1623. In 1613, Mr. Harries of Stockton had the Bishop's licence to erect a pew in Chirbury Church.

Another family marked as of note is Mathews of Wotherton, and another is Edwards of Wynsbury. Thomas Edwards, vicar of Chirbury from 1736 to 1756, was grandson of Sir Thomas Edwards of Greet, Baronet, and his son became Sir Thomas Edwards, rector of Frodesley, and ancestor of the late Sir Henry Edwardes.

Another family, Pryce of Gunley, has still representatives and still owns property in Chirbury, though Gunley itself is just over the border in Forden Parish.

The family of Owens is less easy to trace, and that of Bigges of Marrington seems to have left nothing to show who they were. John Roberts of Rorrington disclaimed arms in 1623, and David Roberts of the register may be of the same family.

Richard Bradeley was a trustee of the school under the will of Edward Lewis in 1677. John Thynne, who in 1703 married Abigail Bury at Chirbury, was of Little Stretton. He was great-grandson of the builder of Longleat. Abigail, his second wife, was daughter of Richard Wredenhall of Downton. After his marriage he lived at Stanton Lacy, where he was buried in 1717, and she in 1745.

Elizabeth Herbert, buried in 1654, may have been related to Lord Herbert of Chirbury, and his brother George. Lord Herbert of Chirbery, held Montgomery Castle for the Parliament at the beginning of the Civil Wars, when the battle was fought there in 1644.

At Marton were the Brays, one of whom, Dr. Thomas Bray (baptised at Chirbury in 1658) will always be remembered with honour as the founder of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. Maria, one of Dr. Bray's sisters, married Jonathan Edwardes, rector of Westbury, a son of Sir Thomas Edwardes. They lived at Marton and their son Thomas was vicar of Chirbury. His son Thomas became the seventh baronet. He was rector of Frodesley.

Edward Lewis, vicar of Chirbury from 1629 to 1677, lived at Dudston. He was a man of means, which he employed in various ways for the good of his parish. He was accustomed to preach twice every Sunday at a time when that was not always the custom, and in the time of the Civil Wars was once dragged from the pulpit and imprisoned.

He built and endowed the School, gave a charity for widows, and left a library of chained books of great interest, as it contains all that remains of the library formed by the saintly George Herbert, of which Walton in his life of the Poet tells us that the "rebels also burnt and destroyed a choice library which Mr. Herbert had fastened with chains in a fit room in Montgomery Castle, being by him dedicated to the succeeding Herberts that should become the owners of it."

In his will he speaks of his cousin Edward Farmer, to whom he left his M.S. The Farmers lived at Winsbury in the parish for many generations. John Farmer was a clergyman, and Master of the School from before 1690 till 1706, and Thomas Farmer was curate from 1768 to 1802, and then vicar till 1838.

John Harding, vicar from 1678 till 1735, also left descendants, and a second John Harding was vicar in 1762. The first John Harding was son of an alderman of Shrewsbury, perhaps of that John Harding who was Mayor in 1669.

The family of Prichard occurs frequently as taking part in the business of the parish.

Many of the asterisked names are now hard to identify. Probably some were relations by marriage of the local families.

The following valuation of the Vicarage and Priory of Chirbury is taken from a MS. in the Public Record office:—

Annui clarique valores beneficiorum, &c.

The Register
Church Stretton.

In the autumn of 1593, Church Stretton suffered from a serious fire, but apparently the Church (unlike that of Shifnal) was untouched. A collection was made in Shrewsbury in aid of the sufferers, by order of the Court of the Marches. The money was received by William Posterne on behalf of himself and his fellow townsmen whose houses or goods had been burnt. The order for the collection is signed by William Leighton, of Plaish, and Sir Henry Townshend, of Cound, who had married a daughter of Sir Rowland Heyward, lord of the manor of Stretton.

In the Religious Census of Shropshire in 1676, Church Stretton had 431 churchpeople over the age of 16, one papist, and two nonconformists.

The church of St. Lawrence is of Saxon foundation, for the Domesday Book of 1086, mentions that the manor had a Church and a Mill. The present building dates from Norman times, when probably the earlier church was enlarged and re-built, and considerable additions were again made towards the close of the 12th century. The carved heads upon the eastern responds of the nave arcade, are worthy of notice. They resemble those on the roof corbels of the nave of Hereford Cathedral. In the 14th century the upper storey was added to the tower, and some of the church windows altered.

In 1619, Dame Jane Norton, a daughter of Judge Thomas Owen, and wife of Bonham Norton, who built the old market house of Church Stretton, rebuilt the west end of the nave, and made several gifts to the church. She was buried at Conover in 1640, and in her will desired that she should be followed to the grave by as many poor women as she was years of age, 20 being from Conover, 20 from Stottesdon, and the remainder from Church Stretton, "where I dwell." Western aisles have been added to the transepts in modern times, and a carved oak chancel screen and marble pulpit, given, the one to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria and the latter in memory of the Rev. H. O. Wilson, rector from 1849 to 1879. The whole was restored and put into careful order in 1868 and later years. The carved oak in the chancel was placed there by the Rev. R. N. Pemberton.

The Parish Register Abstract of 1831 gives the following notices of the Registers:—"Church Stretton R., No. I., Bap., Bur., Marr., 1662—1731, interrupted by No. II., Bur., 1679—1751. No. III., Bap., Bur., 1732—1812; Marr., 1732—1753. Nos. IV., V., Marr., 1754—1812."

The volumes I., II., and III., are parchment in very fair condition and decipherable all through. Volumes IV. and V. are on the ordinary paper form, only two pages of Vol. V. having been used. The abbreviations C.S., A.S., L.S., and M. are frequently used to denote Church Stretton, All Stretton, Little Stretton and Minton. Owing to the interruption of Vol. II., and the overlapping of Vol. IV., Vol. III. is divided in the printed copy, and the portion beginning in 1744 is headed by mistake Vol. VI.

 1807.—Thomas Bernard Coleman, M.A., Worcester College, Oxford, son of Thomas Coleman, gent., of Leominster; born there 1782. He died in 1818.
 1818.—Robert Norgrave Pemberton, M.A., Christ Church, Oxford, son of Robert Pemberton, Esq., of Shrewsbury; born there 1791. Hon. Canon of Hereford. Died at Millichope Park, 11th Oct., 1848.
 1849.—Charles Arthur Salusbury, B.A., Jesus College, Oxford, son of Sir John Salusbury Piozzi-Salusbury, Knt. Born at Tremierchon, co. Flint, 14th Oct., 1823; died 9th July, 1849.

The first occurrence of the word gen., in the Bridgman family is in 1677, when John Bridgman of Minton, was buried. Mr. Thomas Bridgman, of Little Stretton, was buried in 1736. Mr. Thomas Bridgman, who in 1719 left £2 a year to the School and 30s. to the poor, is called in the Register "faber lignarius."

Mrs. Sarah Oakes, widow, was buried in 1675.

Nicholas and Anne Jackson, "generosi," had a son Nicholas baptised in 1683.

Benjamin Baldwin, who was living in the parish in 1690, is only called "gent." in 1707 at the baptism apparently of his ninth child.

In 1707, Corbetta, daughter of Thomas Cook, gen., and Sarah his wife, was baptised. Her unusual Christian name appears in 1746 as that of the wife of John Gough. In 1713, Benjamin Russell, of Enchmarsh, gen., was married early in the year to Anne Minton, and their son was baptised in the December. They were of Minton in 1716, when their daughter Anne was baptised. Mr. Edward Russell was buried in 1732.

In 1715, William Streaker, gen., had a daughter baptised and in 1720 a son. In the latter year he and his wife Anne are called "extranei," strangers.

In 1713, was baptised, Anne, daughter of Edward Appleyard, of the town and parish of Church Stretton, gen., and four more children followed. Sarah his wife was buried in 1726, and Edward Appleyard, of Hardwicke, gen., was buried five months later. In 1740, Mr. Christopher Appleyard, of Middle, was buried.

In 1714, Bernard Hammond, of Minton, gen., had a son Minton baptised. (He was married in 1760 to Elizabeth Phillips). Seven more children followed.

In 1717, Francis Bristow, gen., was buried, and in the next year Barnabas Bristow and Elizabeth Broughton were married. He is called "gen." at the baptism of their twin sons in 1719, but not in the entries of his other children. He is called Bernard in the later entries.

Thomas Waring, whose wife Jane was buried in 1711, is written gen. (or perhaps it is intended for senr.), and Thomas Waring, gen. and Alice his wife, had children baptised in 1718 and 1719. Alice died in 1720.

John Oliver, gen., occurs in 1718, and William Oliver in 1727. In 1754, Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver, a minor, was married to the Rev. Richard Wilding. The second Rev. Richard Wilding in 1778 married Mary Luther, and in 1788 his rector, the Rev. John Mainwaring, married Anne Wilding.

Edward Jones, gen., who occurs in 1722, and Thomas Poston, gen., in 1723, are given no title in the majority of entries relating to them, and the same is the case of Thomas Mills, of Church Stretton, who is called gen. in 1724.

Richard Crompton, gen., was of Church Stretton in 1724 and 1726. He was of a family connected with Longnor and Ryton in Conover parish. He married Elizabeth Hayward in 1715, and left her a widow in 1731 with a large family of young children.

Abraham Ambler, gen., was buried in 1709, and another Abraham Ambler, of Lidbury parish, was married in 1715 to Catherine Parr, of Church Stretton.

John and Margaret Brewster, of Little Stretton, "generosi," had a daughter, Anne, baptised in 1725.

In 1732, Margaret, daughter of Mrs. Hill, of "Orson," was buried, and in 1733, Thomas, posthumous son of Ness Hill, gent., and Mary his widow, was baptised. "Orson" is a version of Alcaston, near Acton Scott. Thomas Hill, of Court of Hill (who died in 1656) married Mary, daughter and heiress of William Ness, of Alcaston, and his only son, Ness Hill, married Margaret, daughter of Samuel More, of Linley. In 1700—1, Margaret, daughter of Mr. Nesse Hill, curate, and Elizabeth his wife, was baptised at Wroxeter. Mr. Ness Hill also occurs in the register of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury.

Several members of the Corfield family are called gen. William had children baptised in 1733, 4, 7, and 9. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Corfield died in 1747, and he in 1751. Mr. Thomas Corfield had a daughter baptised in 1737, when he has no prefix given him, but at her burial the following year he has. Mr. Wm. Corfield was buried in 1751.

Mrs. Elizabeth Preston, of Church Stretton, widow, was buried in 1740.

Mr. Edward Phillips, senior, of Church Stretton, Apothecary, was buried in 1740, leaving a benefaction to the poor.

In 1738, Whitehall Harries, Esq., of Ludlow, and Miss Anne Elizabeth Whitworth, were married, and their children were baptised at Church Stretton in succeeding years.

In 1735, the Rev. Mr. Richard Adney, of Ludlow, married Anna Maria Harris, and in 1740, the Rev. Mr. Humphrey Parry, of St. Mary's, Shrewsbury, married Mrs. Anne Tench. Mrs. Anne Parry died in 1776, leaving to St. Mary's, Shrewsbury, £20, the interest to be given to four poor widows, and £60 in accordance with the wish of her sister, Mrs. Mary Tench, the interest to be given at Christmas to eight poor householders.

Probably Anne was nearly related to Rowland Tench, Rector of Church Stretton between 1725 and 1748. He was son of Richard Tench, of Shrewsbury, and was curate of Astley from 1714 to 1728.

In 1740, Nicholas John Lyon, Esq., of Oldham, married Esther May, of Ludlow.

In 1749, is the marriage of Mr. James Metcalfe and Mrs. Mary Blakeway. The marriage in 1757 of Moses Eaton, Gentleman, and Cicely Edwards, has no witnesses given. They were later of Botfield.

There is mention in the register of two mills, Burton Mill and Quenbatch Mill.

Few trades are mentioned till 1703 (John Phillips, mercer, was buried in 1665). After 1703, a large number of yeomen are mentioned, and from 1713 to 1725 the writer of the entries gives Latin equivalents for the various callings. We have Pandocheus, an innkeeper, Faber ferrarius, a blacksmith, and Faber lignarius, a carpenter. Sutor calcearius is a shoemaker, and Sutor vestiarius a tailor. Colonus, is a farmer, chirothecarius, a glover, lapacida or lithurgus, a stone-cutter, textor a weaver, molendarius a miller, institutor, a schoolmaster, and mercator ferrarius, an iron merchant. Plebeius seems to mean a labourer, or some indistinguishable calling. Strangers occur as "extranei," and a tramp is "circumcellio." Scrinariarius seems to be a tanner, and purgator caminae is a sweep; doliarius a cooper; operarius an artisan; inquilinus a lodger.

In 1777, are two entries of the baptism of children of "Comedians," apparently passing through the town.

There are several unusual Christian names, including Parmenas, Felicia, Sylvanus, and Ambrose.

The first volume of the Register was copied by Mrs. R. B. Morris, the others by Miss A. M. Auden and Miss Auden, the latter of whom has collated the proofs with the original and seen the whole through the press. They are now printed by permission of the Rector, the Rev. Alexander Roberts, at the expense of Mrs. Seymour, to whose generosity the Shropshire Parish Register Society owes so much, and whose recent death it has now to deplore.
